

Simply cut this out fold it up, and you're good to go.

8. My God

You're the King of my desires. You're the ruler of my soul. My heart is spread wide open, You can take it all. You're the passion deep inside me. Be my captain, won't You guide me? I'm riding on the flames of desire. It's You who always takes me higher, Lord, oh... I'm singin' a song for the One that I love, the One that I love, His name is Jesus. I'm pouring my heart out, my faith is on fire, my faith is on fire with a love for My God. The sea is getting very crazy. The wind is beating on my chest. My heart is getting very heavy. I'm trusting in the One who loves me the best, yeah.....with a love for My God.....I'm singin' a song.....singin' a song!

9. Walk Along with Me

Hello, good morning won't you come and walk with Me? And we'll chat for a little while. You'll see, that I long to spend the day right by your side. As you wake, My Spirit will rise. This day, that I have sprung like a flower just for you. The sun is shining bright and you are too. Like a waterfall, your worries flow away. You're walking light in My love on this day. You are My child and I love you. So won't you take Me along on this ride, through the trials and the victories. I want to be with you, won't you come and walk along with Me! This life, that I have breathed into you and set you free. You'll dance but in a little while you'll see. There are mountains, valleys, rivers you can't cross. Without your maker you are lost.....When you're dancing in the night, and your steps you cannot see. I will be nocturnal eyes. Take my hand and just believe. When you're dancing in the night. I will be nocturnal eyes. Just believe, just believe, just believe walk with Me.....Whoooooooooaaaaa

A Different Sky

1. By Me

The day is slowly ending. I find myself alone just hoping, that someone here will care. I'm crying out for a love that does not come. To my knees I'm falling. To the sky my arms are raising. My hands are reaching out, they're longing, for the touch of the One who's always there. I love you, God. You are the One. You always stand by me. In You, I rise up free. When all others fail, when all others leave, God you are the One, the One who stands by me, You stand by me. I'm walking down a road that's only leading, to and end that's so deceiving, I cry to you, Lord, please free me.....On me You lay Your grace. For me, You show Your face. For You I lay my life. On You I fix my eyes.

2. Love

Love, breeds a conversation. I am lost. I am blind. Love, feeling my frustration, I've returned another time. True confession, learn my lesson, You lay down the bridge to heaven. Why so merry? Ordinary, tender soul revived forever, Love. Love, I'm seeking out Your wisdom. All Your truth. All Your truth. Love, You're playing all my heart strings. I am moved. I am moved.....Take this breath and take this soul, and take this heart and make it love, Lord. La la la la la la....la la la la la la..la la la la la la la la la la.....

DAY 40

I think of all the time that's gone by. I think of all the memories that I've made with you right here by my side. I think of all the times we were laughing, and I think of all those times we should have been. But we let little things get us down. I want to tell you, "I do," in the peaks of love and in the valleys too. I want to savor the hour, until we're hand-in-hand and the light of heaven shines through. I think of all those tears of joy, and I think of all those tears that shouldn't have been. But we let selfish ways get us down. I think of all the days before us. And I think of all those roads that led us here. And there's no other path that I'd rather take.....All of my days, I want to find you, I want to find you today. Oh God. I want to fly in a different sky where the sun is shining and my heart is light. I want to fly in a different sky. To get through this storm, Lord, I've got to give you time. The clouds are breaking. Light shines through. I'm looking for the answer. I'm looking for You. My heart is aching. My sanctuary comes!.....I want to fly! I want to fly! Oh, my Lord, I've got to give you time. You'll come through, you'll come through.

7. Thinking Of

As I look upon Your cross, I'm longing for a way to show my love. But all the things that I might say, run to the back of my mind some place. Words can't fly, thoughts can't soar. Nothing that's a part of me can explain, all Your mercy, all Your grace. I just can't trap my mind around Your name. You are God, over all, You are God. You are God. There are paths within my heart, that You have taken oh, so tenderly. But all the thanks that I might say, are cast within a bottle upon the sea.....All the world rejoices, listen to our voices, we're singing our hearts to You, God! Look at all these faces, people of all races are bowing down to You, God!.....You are God, You are God, You are God!

6. You Are God

When the sun falls I can see all Your stars there, shining for me, and I can almost hear Your voice, telling me that You'll always love me. And I know that You're here. Yes I know that You're spirit surrounds me. I see without eyes. I can hear you speaking to me, and I can almost feel Your grace lifting me to a beautiful place.....and I know.....yes I know.....You'll never leave me, You'll never let go, and I know.....yes I know.....You'll never leave me, You'll never let go, no....

4. Lean

You have found that I can get so upright. And you've seen in me, that I can get so lost, so I come to you, and you say: Take a breath, kick up your feet, and listen to Me. I am here, I've got your back, it's time to lean on Me, and you've heard me say that it is time for change. I have grown so cold. Oh, Lord, I can't do this alone. And you say..... I won't stray, I'll never change. I am the way. I'll stay the same.....I will watch you grow, child.....

5. Time

Time feels like the world is coming down on me. I don't know where to hide. I just don't want to feel this way inside. My God, hear me out. I see them smiling in that place where broken dreams don't matter anyway. I see them laughing, I see their tears of joy, I'm afraid. I feel so alone, my God. Tomorrow fades. I only see the pain of today. Oh God. I want to fly in a different sky. To get through this storm, Lord, I've got to give you time. The clouds are breaking. Light shines through. I'm looking for the answer. I'm looking for You. My heart is aching. My sanctuary comes!.....I want to fly! I want to fly! Oh, my Lord, I've got to give you time. You'll come through, you'll come through.

3. You'll Never Leave Me

When the sun falls I can see all Your stars there, shining for me, and I can almost hear Your voice, telling me that You'll always love me. And I know that You're here. Yes I know that You're spirit surrounds me. I see without eyes. I can hear you speaking to me, and I can almost feel Your grace lifting me to a beautiful place.....and I know.....yes I know.....You'll never leave me, You'll never let go, and I know.....yes I know.....You'll never leave me, You'll never let go, no....